Netherlands Flood Risk Management Trip for Professionals

Next year's US-Netherlands Connection Professional program has been announced. I strongly recommend it for water resource professionals interested in flood risk management. Here's the announcement

<https://usnc.water.tallyfox.com/node/46860> Get a taste of what you'll experience, here's a video that I created from my trip with them this spring. <https://vimeo.com/130027228>

The Sum of Our Parts | The Scientist Magazine®

Putting the microbiome front and center in health care, in preventive strategies, and in health-risk assessments could stem the epidemic of noncommunicable diseases.

BioEM2015: Plenary session on EHS

One of the plenary sessions at the BioEM2015 in Asilomar presented two views on EHS. Invited speakers were Kjell Hansson Mild and Gunnhild Oftedal. To me the session was a big disappointment. It indicated a stagnation in EHS research and a lack of new ideas to resolve the problem of causality. Kjell Hansson Mild reviewed the history of EHS research. There were no new ideas for further research....
